

Chiltern Threatened Species Day

Description

default watermark

default watermark

Threatened Species Day @ Chiltern

Friday 7th September, 10:00-4:00

Join Trust for Nature and BirdLife Australia for National Threatened Species Day. Learn more about our local threatened species, projects happening to protect them and how you can get involved. Hear from:

- ▶ Dean Ingwersen (BirdLife Australia) - Regent Honeyeaters
- Chris Tzaros (Birds, Bush & Beyond) - Turquoise Parrots
- Sally Day (Greta Valley Landcare) - Paddock Tree Project
- Will Ford (Trust for Nature) - Landholder environment grants

Hear from wildlife ecologist
and photographer
Chris Tzaros!

The day will begin at Chiltern Senior Citizens Hall with morning tea and several presentations, followed by lunch. We will then travel by car to a private property 10 minutes south of Chiltern for a walk and talk with Dean, Chris, Sally and Will. The walk will be about 2 km through bushland - moderate fitness is required. Walking boots, sun/ rain protection and water bottle are a must. You may wish to bring binoculars and/or a camera. Afternoon tea will also be provided.

Places are limited! RSVP by 5pm Monday 3rd September.

Further details provided upon registration.

willf@tfn.org.au or 0418 300 959

This event is supported by Trust for Nature and BirdLife Australia, through funding from the Australian Government's National Landcare Program - Threatened Species Recovery Fund.

Category

1. Latest News

Date Created

2018/08/16

Author

eileen

default watermark